EVANGELIZATION.

Missionary Progress on the Hawaiian Islands.

The scope of the Christian work in the Hawaiian Islands still supported by the American Board has been enlarged the past year, according to previous arrangement, by sending out Rev. Mr. Westervelt, of Denver, Colorado, to engage directly in missionary labors in behalf of native churches and people. He will not assume the position of a pastor, but in the more detached relation of a missionary will familiarize himself with the religious needs of the district where he labors, will counsel and cooperate with the native pastors, and by all means seek to deepen the held of the gospel and to widen its influence among the people. The welcome he has received in the islands, from natives and foreigners alike, and the readiness with which the work opens before him promise the best results. It is to be hoped that other work, may be found, until each of the principal islands is occupied. The number of students connected with the North Pacific Missionary Institute, the range of instruction given, and the service of the men who have been trained here, are such as abundantly to Mechanics and Workingmen's Political justify the wisdom of opening this seminary and to ensure a larger and better and was well attended.
